

AUGUST 2026

Senior Entrance:

Written by: Adriam Rohena (12th)

The Class of 2027 had their first day by celebrating their last first day of school. They joined us in the morning and walked through the entire elementary and high school campus with music playing, people cheering, and our seniors dancing with senior pride. For many seniors, this entrance was a moment they had been waiting for, but while it celebrated our senior class, it also marked the beginning of their final experiences together. As the year continues, they will have many opportunities to celebrate, experience new beginnings, and create memories with their class that will last a lifetime. Overall, this is only the beginning of an unforgettable year for the Class of 2027.

The Summ:

Written by: Nicamar Piñeiro ((11th))

On August 26, students from grades 10 through 12 had the opportunity to attend "THE SUMM" experience, held at the Puerto Rico Convention Center. This event allowed students to discover multiple universities and learn about the programs and opportunities they offer. THE SUMM, or Student Experience Summit, is known as one of the largest educational and career exploration events for students in Puerto Rico.

Students had the opportunity to explore different professions, meet university representatives, and even experience simulated work environments. The event gave many students a better idea of what they could pursue after high school and allowed them to ask questions about college life, academic programs, and future opportunities.

As students begin to think about their futures and the paths they want to take, guidance can be an important part of making those decisions. As Proverbs 3:5-6 reminds us: "Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding; in all your ways submit to him, and he will make your paths straight."

Did you know?

Did you know Dolly Parton wasn't just an iconic country singer, but she also founded her Imagination Library, which launched in 1995? Since then, it has given out more than 300 million books. Having more books in the home has been proven to positively benefit children, and having a home library with at least 20 books can increase academic success, vocabulary development, and attention. So remember to keep reading and support your local libraries!

Autopistas Universidades:

Written by: Ariana Galliano (11th)

The Autopista Américas College Fair took place on August 19, giving students the opportunity to interact with representatives from approximately 50 universities and colleges from Puerto Rico and the United States. The purpose of this event was to expose students to a wide variety of academic programs, career paths, and higher education options as they begin exploring their future goals. By connecting with admissions representatives, students gained valuable information that can help them make informed decisions about their college journey. Wesleyan Academy is always committed to guiding students through the college selection process by providing meaningful opportunities, resources, and experiences that support their academic and career aspirations.

Anti-Bullying Campaig:

Written by: Amaya Hernandez (11th)

On August 19–20, Wesleyan Academy spread beautiful words of encouragement to start off the school year as part of its annual “Anti-Bullying Campaign,” titled “Be the One to Speak Up.” The main focus of this year’s campaign was to raise awareness about bullying and promote relationships based on inclusion and kindness.

Upon arrival, students were greeted by positive Christian music, reminding them that even when they may not feel loved by the world, God will always have their backs. The screens also displayed positive phrases related to the campaign, reminding students that they are enough.

The Elementary School had a chapel activity dedicated to the campaign titled Seamos Luz.” Another highlight of the campaign was the activity “One Phrase Can Change Everything.” Upon arrival, students were given a small folded piece of paper containing an encouraging message. They were then able to read the positive message inside, demonstrating how one kind phrase can truly make someone’s day better.

This campaign served as a reminder of how we should live out Proverbs 31:8–9: “Speak up for those who cannot speak up for themselves.”

Dean's List:

Written by: Santiago Prieto (11th)

On August 27, our Dean, Ecaterina García, presented these recognized students with the Dean's List Award. This award recognizes academic excellence, responsibility, and positive conduct throughout the second semester of the 2025–2026 school year.

The students who received the Dean's List Award represented eighth through twelfth grades, with seven students in eighth grade, two in ninth grade, five in tenth grade, thirty in eleventh grade, and twelve in twelfth grade.

We would also like to recognize our teachers and staff for helping each of us reach our full academic potential. The Wesleyan Wire would like to congratulate all the students who went the extra mile and worked hard to earn this recognition. You should feel proud of receiving this award and of everything you have accomplished to earn it. All your hard work is worth celebrating, and as Ecclesiastes 9:10 says, “Whatever your hand finds to do, do it with all your might.”

Elementary Spotlight:

Written by: Jorge Rotger (12th)

New stages in life are always somewhat frightening, and growing up can be really scary. But part of growing up is accepting change and becoming a better person because of it, and that’s exactly what the current sixth-grade class is doing. They’re patiently, but excitedly, waiting to enter a new stage of their lives while having a great time along the way.

We asked the class’s homeroom teachers how they feel about their students, and here’s what they said!

Ms. Nicole commented that she loves getting to see these kids grow up, especially since she was their homeroom teacher in fifth grade as well! Ms. Noriega said that it’s a new adventure for her, as this is her first year as a homeroom teacher. Both of them shared that they are really excited for the rest of the school year and are ready to tackle all the extra work that comes with fundraisers and events.

They both offered a word of advice to their students. Ms. Nicole encouraged them to “focus on their path and keep faith in God,” while Ms. Noriega advised them to “remember that God is always with them in life.”

We at The Wesleyan Wire want to wish all the sixth-grade students a wonderful year!

Monthly Awareness:

Written by: Ambar Roche (12th)

Although every month carries a special celebration, August carries a particularly meaningful one: World Cancer Support Month. Cancer is a very tough disease, and most of the time, we focus on supporting the patients who are going through it. But there is one very important person in most patients’ lives who is often overlooked: the caregiver. What about the caregiver? Caregivers dedicate more than just their time. They dedicate their love, their emotions, and their energy to making the patient’s journey a little easier. They are there through the difficult days, the long nights, and the moments when hope can feel hard to find. For this and many other reasons, here are 3 things you can do for a caregiver:

1. Hug them

Sometimes, a simple hug can remind them that they are not alone and that their efforts are appreciated.

2. Prepare meals

Taking care of someone can be exhausting. Preparing a meal for a caregiver can give them one less thing to worry about.

3. Provide companionship

Caregivers need support, too. Spend time with them, listen to them, or simply be there. Sometimes, having someone who understands and listens can make all the difference.

Featured Senior:

Written by: Amanda Torrews (11th)

For this month's Featured Senior is Ambar Roche, who has been at Wesleyan for 14 years. She currently serves as the president of the Newspaper Club, creating a space where students can express themselves and explore something new. Being president of the club means giving other students the opportunity to have an outlet for creative freedom and discover new interests.

One of her favorite experiences was the club's visit to El Vocero, which she described as especially rewarding because it was the first time many of the students had visited a journalism center. She enjoyed seeing everyone become excited about the experience. Through The Wesleyan Wire, she hopes students can take away meaningful memories and feel encouraged to become more involved in the activities they enjoy.

Beyond the Newspaper Club, her 14 years at Wesleyan have been shaped by the connections she has made with teachers, security guards, cafeteria staff, and other members of the community. She also shared that even when she may be going through a difficult moment, running into them in the hallway and exchanging a few words helps her tremendously. These everyday interactions have become some of the memories she values most from her time at WA.

As she prepares to graduate, she leaves future Wesleyan Wire correspondents with a simple but meaningful message: "Embrace the project and make it your own. Don't hesitate—if you have an idea, present it." Her journey at Wesleyan demonstrates the importance of creativity, connection, and taking the opportunity to make an experience truly your own.
